

Educating from a Biblical Worldview

August 24, 2017

Dear Fellow Educator:

I write to recommend Mr. Paul Curtas, Director of the Fellowship of Christian Airline Personnel, who has done a masterful job demonstrating the impact that Christians can have in the worldwide marketplace to our students at Columbia International University. Using his recent book, When God Shows Up At Work, which is a delightful, wonderfully clear, biblically-nuanced presentation of how 'ministering professionals' can know Christ and make Him known in the marketplace, Paul has engaged CIU's business and organizational leadership students with his years of experience working with believers and ministering to non-believers in the international airline industry.

Our business students appreciate Paul's sane, practical theology and application that is taught from a servant's heart that teaches our students how to impact the worldwide marketplace by aiming for holiness and delighting in it, responding to grace and being thankful for it, and maneuvering through the marketplace dilemmas and learning to please God. You will not find a better advocate for marketplace ministry and the role of ministering professionals than Paul Curtas.

Paul has a standing invitation to lecture to our business students anytime, as our students value his wisdom, life experiences, and willingness to talk with them individually to address career and workplace ministry opportunities, individual faith questions, and further character development.

If I can answer any further questions or expand on this recommendation, please contact me at the phone or address below.

Blessings,
